

Masters

The Masters chair brings to mind the lines of three great masterpieces, putting them all together, they create a new product, a new project, a reflection of our new society. Imagine that the outlines of the three most famous chairs in contemporary design weave themselves together in a play of sinuous lines. Its distinctiveness is, of course, in the back which is characterized by the solidity and void created by the meetings of curving lines of the three different backs which flow down and join together along the perimeter of the chair.
